

Bible lessons

In August, we learned about the perfect world God created.

In September, we will learn why the world is no longer perfect, and the promise God made (and fulfilled) to rescue us from the consequences of this imperfection.

Initial Assessments

Preschool can seem like random crafts and unstructured play-time. Rest assured, this is intentional, we are getting to know your child personally, and we have big plans for them! We use a High-Scope based curriculum to help us nurture every aspect of your child's development. You will see a variety of goals listed as LOLs on the weekly plan we send home. (Weekly plans are also posted on each classroom door and on the office bulletin board.) LOLs refer to the "Level of Learning" that we are focusing on for each activity or portion of our day. We will be sending home a reference book detailing each LOL soon.

Class Books!

A book of our class birthdays is ready to decorate! Each child can find their page, color the cake, trace their name and birthdate, and return to the book. The book will remain in the class library so kids can look up which friends have birthdays coming up.

We also have a "Preschool Travel Journal" in our class library. Whenever you go on vacation throughout the year, your child can fill out a page about their trip. They can share it with the class, and add it to our travel book. The book will be in the class library for kids to look at any time.

Ideas to do at home

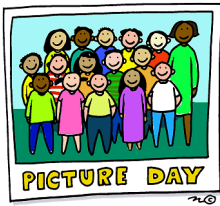

*Send your child on a scavenger hunt around your house to find colors and shapes

*As you read books together, ask your child to find letters that they recognize (especially letters in their name)

*Have your child sort everyday items in your house by color, shape or size

*Practice expressing different emotions with your child in the mirror and talking about them
